Irish Community Care

Irish Community Care, in Cheetham Hill, asked us to do a brief presentation at one of their Volunteers' Development Days, to highlight how public sector cuts and other changes in the operating environment of the voluntary sector might impact on the work of their organisation. This enabled their team of volunteers to be more informed about the changes ahead, to discuss the possible implications together and begin to plan how the organisation could prepare and adapt to the changes.

Does your organisation regularly review the changes happening around you?
Have you considered how you will respond to them?
